Judge Diane Breuer

Diane Sauble Breuer, aca

Now living in Fresno, California, Diane was born in Los Angeles, California. From the age of five until 1976

Diane Breuer's art

she lived in Brazil, India, and Vietnam, where along with her regular schooling, she attended the University of Art of Madras and the University of Art in Calcutta as well as studying batik at the Art Colony at Cholamandal outside Madras, India. When she returned to United States she attended art classes at Fresno State University.

Diane joined the Pastel Society of the West Coast, Society of Western Artists, and The Alliance of California Artists, and is a signature member of the last two. She has served on the boards for SWA and ACA for the past 16 years where she held the position of publicity, newsletter, web master, vice president, and president.

Diane's awards include Best of Show, People's Choice, Pastel Society of the West Coast and many first, second, third, and honorable mentions. Her first award was at the age of 14 when her painting won second place at the Smithsonian Museum of Art, Washington DC, a show put on by the State Department. It was submitted by her father as she was too young. He only told her after he found out her oil painting had taken second place.

Diane paints in watercolor, oils, acrylics, and pastel, with pastel being her favorite. Her favorite subjects are people, though she has painted landscapes, still life, and wall murals.
